

Unlike human mothers, cows used for dairy do not get the option to decide when or if they want to be pregnant, when or if they want to pump, or whether (and with whom) they want to share their milk. Instead, their calves are taken away, forced into a motherless existence and deprived of their mothers' milk to serve the palate pleasure of the masses. The violent and unnecessary use of these animal mothers and their young is deplorable. I am brought to tears as I picture these mothers being robbed of the bond they anticipated for 9 months, their helpless infants deprived of the maternal love, connection and nourishment they so desperately need and crave.
