

Being vegan is a feminist act.

As miserable as life is for nearly all farm animals, the females have it the worst. They're forced to live with little room to move and prevented from following their natural instincts while their babies and secreted fluids are continually taken from them until they are too sick and spent to provide what is demanded of them. Then they are slaughtered for cheap meat and replaced with younger females who face the same cycle of cruel use. Oppressing females due to their reproductive organs is not a feminist act.
